PHILIP
Earle of Montgomery, &c. Gentleman of his Maiesy Bed-Chamber. Both Knights of the most Noble Order of the Garter, and our singular good LORDS.

Right Honourable,

WHilst we studie to be thankfull in our particula the many fauors we haue receiued from your we are false upon the ill fortune, to min two the most diuerse things that can bee, f and rashnesse; rashnesse in the enterprize feare of the sucresse. For, when we valew the places your H sustaine, we cannot but know their dignity greater, then to desce the reading of these trifles: and, vvhile we name them trifles, we depruid our selues of the defence of our Dedication. But since L.L. haue beene pleas'd to thinke these trifles some-thing, bee fore; and haue prosequuted both them, and their Authour li vvith so much fauour: we hope, that (they out-living him, and h hauing the fate, common with some, to be exequutor to his owne tings) you will vse the like indulgence toward them, you haue
